Atkore™ is the leading provider of electrical solutions

A comprehensive offering to cover your next project

Electricity is an integral part of modern society. The entire world essentially runs on it. Not only is it ingrained in modern life, it is also critical for our continued existence. Electric power runs the world and its grip extends from massive tasks such as keeping a hospital up and running to the smallest and seemingly insignificant aspects of life, such as recharging your phone. With a unique portfolio of electrical solutions, Atkore International makes sure that electricity safely, efficiently and effectively runs through your facility. Whether it's a hospital, manufacturing plant, data center, university or high rise - Atkore has the products that meet your unique needs - everything from steel, PVC and aluminum conduit to armored cables and flexible conduit to the strut, wire baskets and cable trays needed to support it all. No other company provides this level of flexibility.
